

The Basis for Mentoring

The Greene County Juvenile Court Mentorship Program is for those youth active in the court system.

It is believed that youth have the right to grow in a healthy, supportive, nurturing environment with caring and responsible adult guidance.

Youth have multiple stressors in their lives including, home, school, and the community.

These youth would benefit tremendously from spending time with a positive adult role model.

Mentorship Program

A mentor is a person who guides and inspires younger people. Mentors are described as wise and trusting people that focus on the growth and development of the youth.

The Mentorship Program

Program Objectives

The Mentorship Program is devoted to:

- Provide youth with a positive adult role model
- Improve the youth's school attendance, school behavior and grades
- Provide cultural enrichment experiences
- Build youth's self-esteem and self worth
- Provide job readiness programs and work site visits.

How the program works:

Youth will be matched with a mentor that has been screened, trained and whose criminal record has been checked.

The mentors commit to a six month relationship with the youth.

During that six month period the mentors will have a minimum requirement to:

- Make two phone calls to the youth per week
- Provide tutoring to the youth weekly for at least two hours
- Attend one cultural enrichment activity per month for at least one hour
- Help the youth complete job applications, visit various work sites and discuss varying topics about job readiness.

About the youth:

Youth are referred to the mentoring program by the court official that is directly overseeing that youth.

They are active in the Greene County Juvenile Court system through the formal or informal court programs.

Eligible youth must be fourteen to eighteen years old. These youth are in need of tutoring in one or more school subjects.

Referrals are based on the need of an adult mentor for the youth and how the youth may benefit and grow from the guidance of an eligible mentor.
